For example, the Quran states: "And your Lord has decreed that you worship none but Him and that you be dutiful to your parents. If one of them or both of them attain old age in your life, say not to them a word of disrespect, nor shout at them but address them in terms of honour."

Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) said: "Paradise lies at the feet of mothers."

Practical Ways to Fulfill Walidain Kay Huqooq

Fulfilling the rights of parents involves a wide range of actions and attitudes, including:

- Respect and Obedience: Treat your parents with utmost respect and kindness. Always listen to their advice and obey their reasonable requests.
- Dua and Supplication: Make dua for your parents and seek Allah's blessings for them. Pray for their health, well-being, and guidance.
- Barakah: Believe that honoring your parents brings barakah (blessings) in your life. Seek their blessings for all your endeavors.
- Inheritance and Zakah: Fulfill your financial obligations towards your parents, especially inheritance and zakah.
- Sadaqah: Give sadaqah (charity) on behalf of your parents, seeking Allah's rewards for them.
- Care and Compassion: Provide care and support to your parents, especially in their old age. Be patient and understanding towards their needs.
- Forgiveness and Tolerance: Forgive any shortcomings or mistakes of your parents. Show them tolerance and kindness, even when you disagree.

Exceptions to Walidain Kay Huqooq

While honoring parents is generally obligatory, there are certain exceptions:

- If parents ask you to do something that is against the teachings of Islam.
- If parents engage in harmful or abusive behavior.

Walidain Kay Huqooq is a fundamental concept in Islam that encourages us to show deep respect, love, and gratitude towards our parents.

Embracing these principles not only brings blessings from Allah but also fosters strong and harmonious family relationships.
