One of the best ways to experience Norwalk is to take a walking tour of the city's historic downtown. The Norwalk Historical Society offers a variety of guided tours throughout the year, or you can explore the city on your own with the help of a self-guided walking tour map.

Here are some of the highlights of a walking tour of Norwalk's historic downtown:

- The Norwalk Green: The Norwalk Green is the heart of the city's historic downtown. This beautiful park is surrounded by historic buildings, including the Norwalk City Hall, the Norwalk Historical Society, and the First Congregational Church.
- The Lockwood-Mathews Mansion Museum: This stunning Victorian mansion was built in 1864 for LeGrand Lockwood, a prominent Norwalk businessman. The mansion is now a museum that houses a collection of Victorian furniture, art, and artifacts.
- The Wall Street Historic District: This charming district is home to a collection of 19th-century commercial buildings. The district is also home to the Wall Street Theater, which is one of the oldest theaters in the United States.
- The Maritime Aquarium at Norwalk: This award-winning aquarium is home to a variety of marine life, including sharks, penguins, and sea turtles. The aquarium also offers a variety of educational programs and exhibits.
- The SoNo Arts District: This vibrant arts district is home to a variety of art galleries, studios, and performance spaces. The district is also home to the Stepping Stones Museum for Children, which is a great place for families to visit.

These are just a few of the many highlights of a walking tour of Norwalk's historic downtown. With its beautiful architecture, public art, and hidden gems, Norwalk is a great city to explore on foot.

Here are some tips for planning your walking tour:

- Start your tour at the Norwalk Historical Society. The society offers a variety of guided tours throughout the year, and they can also provide you with a self-guided walking tour map.
